

THE HONEST ZEBRA

Zane was a zebra who lived on the wide grasslands. He liked to run fast and play with his friends. One day, Zane was playing near a watering hole when he knocked over a bucket of water. The water spilled all over the ground. Zane felt worried and thought about walking away.

Instead, Zane told the other animals what happened. He said, "I spilled the water by accident." The animals thanked Zane for telling the truth and helped fill the bucket again. Zane felt good inside because he was honest.

- 1 What happened at the watering hole?

- 2 What is the story mostly about?

- 3 Why do you think Zane felt good at the end of the story?

- 4 Where was Zane playing when the problem happened?

- 5 Why is it important to tell the truth?
